OBJECTIVE

I am a computer science student interested in getting hands-on experience before graduating. I currently work at the Esports Gaming Arena on campus, so I have a lot of experience with tech support, team management, and customer service, but I'd like to find an internship that can offer me work more focused on computer science itself. I recently spent a semester studying abroad in Nagoya, Japan, so I have experience navigating a new culture and dealing with any problems that may arise due to that.
